Website Name: BetterPlanning

A website where users can create a whole variety of planning features. It would be used for planning events or projects. It will be a "paid" application with a variety of features locked behind payment plans. It will include a planning board with cards, organized into columns, being able to collaborate with other users, and customize your board. Customization would be where some features would be locked behind a fake payment plan.

Main Portal(Not logged in) pages:
Home button(logo), About, Pricing/plans, Contact

User portal(Logged in) pages:
Home button(logo), Plans, Recent, Account, Settings

Database will be storing usernames, passwords(hopefully hashed), email, profile picture, language, board id, name of board, owner of board, any collaborators, and permissions.

Within the boards there will be identifiers for what is stored where such as a card inside of a column by id. The name, description, color, and tag of a card.
